We Are The College

What is Central Carolina Technical College? Often, we think of CCTC as a place, a campus, of landscaped grounds and buildings with classrooms, shops, labs, and offices. However, these facilities alone, do not make CCTC a college. Our campus merely creates the environment for the college to exist. The college is the people that occupy the classrooms, labs, and offices of CCTC. The students, faculty and staff are the college, all united by a common goal. This goal is learning.

Campus Life

Campus Life

Campus life, for most students, begins with orientation. With matriculation each student officially becomes a part of the college. At orientation, students preview college life by becoming acquainted with faculty, staff, and fellow students.

Colleen Daughtrey finds that purchasing books is often more costly than the price of tuition.

Dr. Foster and Dean Garner respond to questions during orientation of new students.

Dean Garner provides admission counseling during registration for the Famah family.

Leisure Time

Minnesota Spence gives lessons in billiards to would-be hustlers of CCTC.

Pat Morgan and Carol Cameron attempt to conceal their identities as a rumor of an undercover DEA agent being on campus spreads through the Student Center.

Sharon Hardin, Cheryl Brantley, and Maria Johnson feel the time between classes is for more than studying.

Jean Kirby combines relaxation and studying.

Academic Life

Thomas Cox and Veta Alston find the LRC to be conducive to their study habits.

The tutorial program benefits many students through the assistance of fellow students.

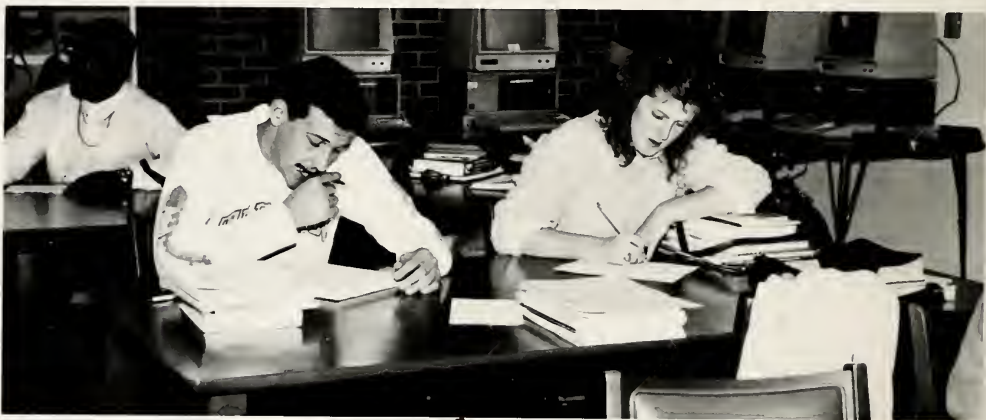

Student Government President, John Hall takes time from his many duties to assist Danita Linton in preparation for her psychology test.

The newly acquired computer terminals in the Guided Studies Area found constant usage from the student body.

Janet Puckett and Susan Reynolds prepare for one of many exams in the Vet. Med. program.

Annette Marosites and James Poe cram for an upcoming exam.

Mattie Bass, Janet Puckett, and Jamie List study for a Fall Quarter final exam.

Larry Talton's Christmas gift to his students, a test.

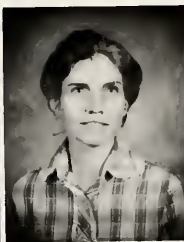

Kenn Talley and Patricia George find practical application for their electronics theory in their weekly lab.

1985-86 Visiting Artist Eugene Jones

The North Carolina Visiting Artist Program brought clarinetist Eugene Jones to Central Carolina Technical College for the 1985-86 academic year. A native of Raleigh, North Carolina, Eugene Jones returned to North Carolina with a rich background in music. As principal clarinetist with the Portland Symphony, Eugene Jones was recognized as one of Maine's leading musicians. Also, while in New England, he became one of New England's most active recitalists and clinicians. Eugene Jones's professional reputation is manifested in his recital and chamber music. Some of his most noted performances were at Symphony Hall in Boston, the Lincoln Center Library and Carnegie Recital Hall in New York City. Recently, he was appointed clinician for the Yamaha Instrument Corporation.

During his appointment at Central Carolina Technical College, Eugene Jones has shared his musical talents with the College and the community. Throughout the year, Eugene Jones has held performances, clinics, and workshops in the local community as well as state-wide.

As a program of the 1986 Temple Theater Series, Eugene Jones and John Ruggero, pianist, performed on January 13, 1986. The selections they performed ranged from Claude Debussy to Aaron Copland. These selections enabled the audience to witness the diversity of the clarinet.

At Jonesboro Elementary School, Eugene Jones conducted workshops to share his craft with the students.

Marian Bridges taken by surprise

Disbelief overcomes Esther Burke.

Ted Lanier with Branch Banking and Trust presented Marian Bridges with a $250 check.

The Employee of the Year award, sponsored by Branch Banking and Trust Company, recognizes the employee at CCTC who best reflects the philosophy of the College. The winner receives a $500 cash gift and the honor of being selected for the award by fellow employees.

The year 1985 marked the first year in the history of the award that two employees received an equal number of votes. Thus, with a tie, Marian Bridges and Esther Burke shared the award and each received $250.

Fall Field Day

A half-day break from Fall classes was welcomed for Field Day activities. Fall Field Day marked the first opportunity of Fall Quarter for a campus-wide fellowship. Everyone seemed to enjoy the afternoon of activities and the cookout. Hundreds of hot dogs and hamburgers were consumed before athletic events began. Students and staff enjoyed volleyball, egg tosses, three-legged races, horseshoes and other activities.

Spectators enjoy Field Day too!

There must be losers in an Egg Toss.

Intramural volleyball competition prevailed throughout the afternoon until the Electronics curriculum emerged as champions.

C.K. Caldwell, an "old" volleyball pro, abstained from play, but displayed seasoned skill as a referee.

1985 Miss CCTC Pageant

Members of Eleanor Hall Dance, Inc. opened the fourth Miss CCTC Pageant with jazz and tap dances. The 1985 Miss CCTC pageant had fifteen contestants, who enjoyed an evening of competing in four areas. Areas of competition were: an interview, and appearances in business, casual, and formal attire. When the judges completed their scoring, Lynne Richardson won the 1985 Miss CCTC Crown. Molly Griffin was 1st runner-up; Meredith McNeill placed 2nd runner-up; and Kimberly Fisher won 3rd runner-up. While the judges determined pageant winners, the contestants selected a Miss Poise and Miss Congeniality. Vonda Harrington was selected Miss Poise, and Karen Johnson won Miss Congeniality.

Anne Hurley and Janie Eudy assist contestant Juli Bynum with her makeup just before the evening gown competition.

Contestant Molly Griffin introduces herself to the judges and audience in business attire.

Pageant judges: Teresa Midgett, 1982-83 SGA President; Dale Shepard; Sandra Burke, Miss CCTC 1979-80; Kelli Thomas, Miss CCTC 1982-83; Hilda Matthews.

Pageant judge, Sandra Burke, presents Lynne Richardson with a dozen red roses.

Valentine's Day

Norman's Corner celebrated Valentine's Day with a drawing to make four Sweethearts happy! At 12 Noon Valentine's Day, Kit Phillips held the drawing for two flower arrangements and two heart shaped cakes.

Sherri McNeill's Sweetheart, Tim Wilson, touched her heart with roses.

Lynne Richardson received Valentine carnations, but needed a vase.

Miss Sweetheart And Mr. Heartthrob Contest

The SGA Valentines Day festivities for 1986 included the fifth annual Miss Sweetheart Contest. Contestants were nominated by friends; winners were selected by an election of soliciting monetary votes of 1¢ each. SGA President, John Hall, counted many pennies to arrive at the 1986 winners. The 1986 winners were Michelle Buchanan, and Kenny Baker, Miss Sweetheart and Mr. Heartthrob, respectively. Proceeds of the contest were donated to the Lee County Heart Fund.

In addition to the Miss Sweetheart and Mr. Heartthrob Contest, the SGA sold carnations. Carnation sales resulted in many happy faces on campus.

Bank teller trainee, John Hall, counts pennies to determine the Miss Sweetheart and Mr. Heartthrob winners.

CCTC's Kenny Baker and Michelle Buchanan, Mr. Heartthrob and Miss Sweetheart.

Could Jon Joyner possibly be thinking about pocketing the carnation sales money?

Lynne Richardson and Annette Marosites display the 18 carnations given to them by John "Hot Dog" Hall.

Basketball

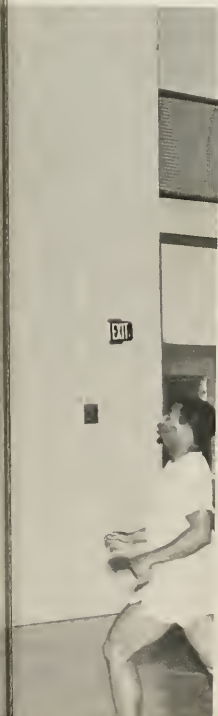

Thursday nights during January and February were basketball nights for CCTC students and faculty at the Broadway School gym. These pick-up games gave everyone a break from their weekly routine.

Dedication

As a high school senior at Franklinton High School, Marvin Keith was voted "Best All Round" by his classmates. If superlatives were awarded at CCTC today, Marvin Keith would surely be a candidate for "Best All-Round." For over eleven years as a member of the CCTC staff, Marvin Keith has instilled optimism in those around him, both students and staff alike. As a dedicated instructor for ten years, Marvin Keith has maintained a genuine concern for the welfare of his students. His students admired him as both a teacher and a friend. Among colleagues, Marvin Keith is perceived as an individual with a positive attitude toward all mankind.

Through recreation Marvin Keith's career was dedicated to the service of others. While completing his Master of Science Degree at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Marvin interned with the Philadelphia Recreation Department of Philadelphia, Pa. After his internship, he served as Assistant Director of the City of High Point Parks and Recreation Department in High Point, NC. His next position led him to Clemson University where he was an Assistant Professor of Recreation. Later he returned to the City of High Point as Director of the Parks and Recreation Department. He continues in recreation as an active participant in the North Carolina Recreation and Parks Society and the National Recreation and Parks Association. Locally, he supports recreation activities such as the Lee Senior Games an Olympic competition for senior citizens. At CCTC Marvin Keith currently holds the position of Institutional Research and Information Specialist. His service to others extends beyond his professional life to participation in church and civic activities. Marvin Keith is married to Patricia Watson Keith. They have a daughter, Nicolle, and a son, Owen.

We feel honored to dedicate Impressions, 1986 to Marvin Keith for his dedication to Central Carolina Technical College

Typical assistance given by Marvin Keith to others in recreational activities.

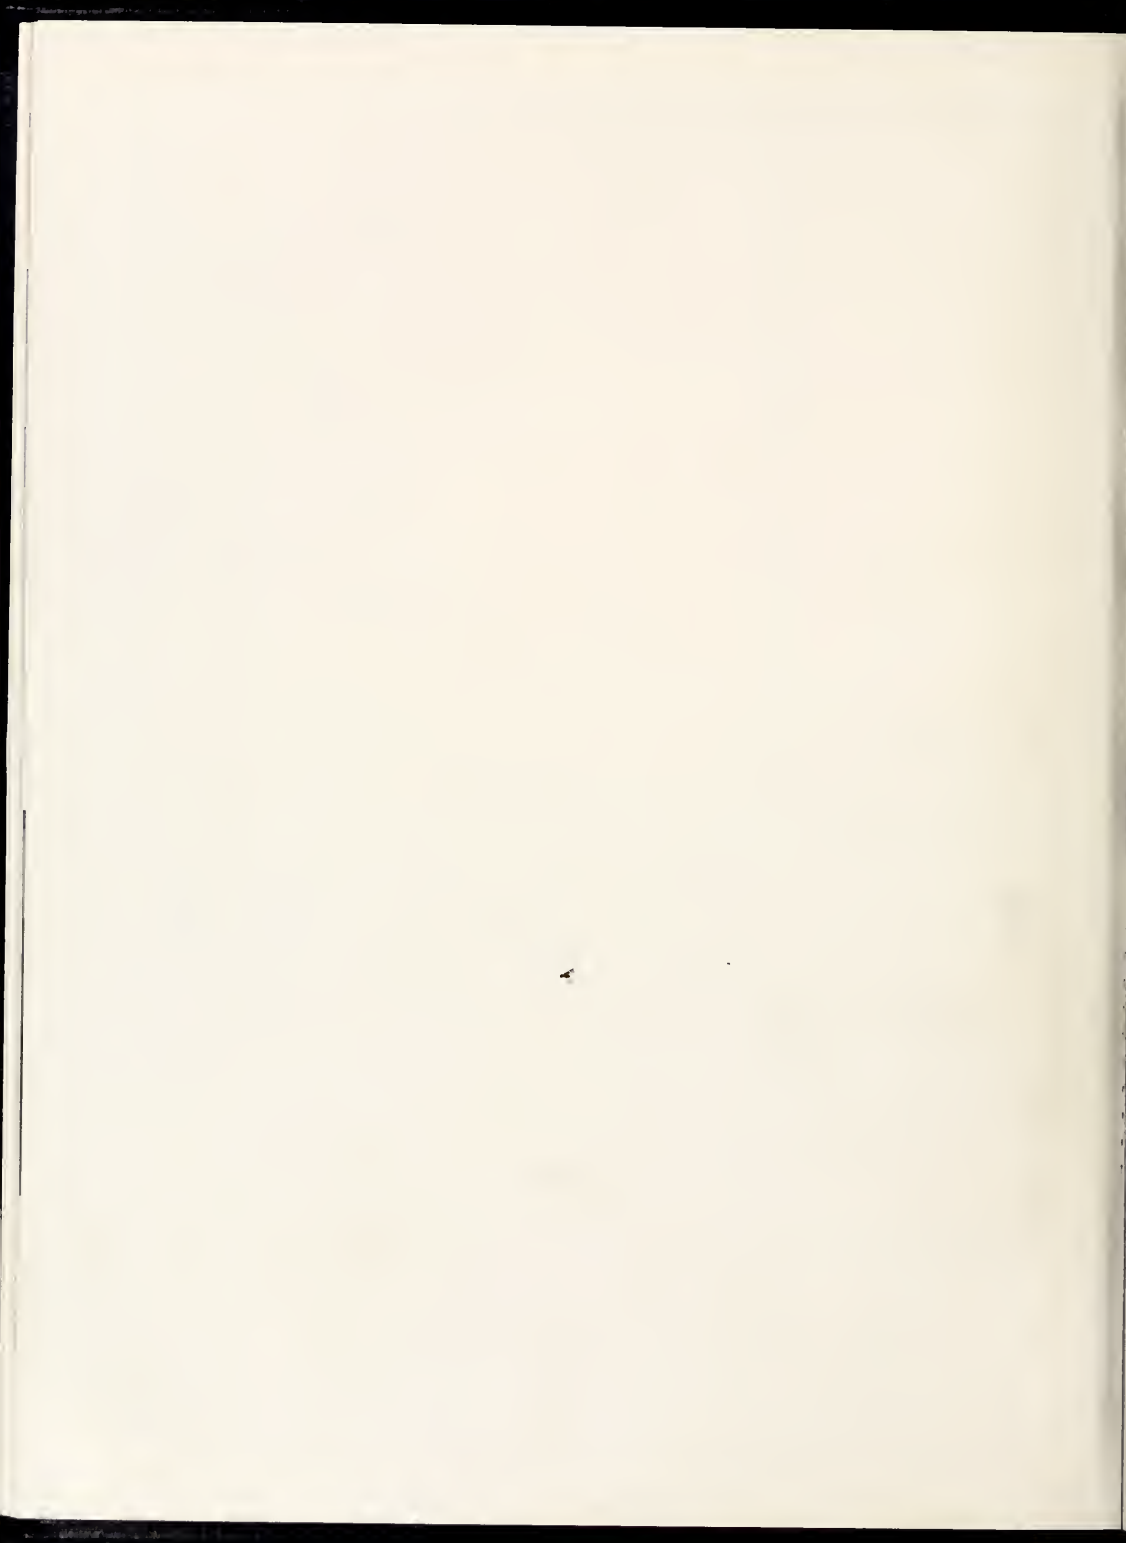

Marvin Keith

We Are The College

The school year for 1985-86 graduates draws to a close with graduation. We have attended classes, survived exams, as well as grown personally and socially. Hopefully our future is a bit brighter and our goals are clearer. Our time as students of CCTC is over. We were as much a part of the College as the buildings or the faculty and staff. We may no longer be the College, but the College shall always be a part of us. As new students enter the campus doors, CCTC will change and become a different College in many ways. As CCTC continues to change over the years, its direction will remain constant, meeting the educational needs of all.
